MAKRANA MOORTI HOUSE

"From Marble Blocks to Timeless Creations"

"Est 1951"

A moorti for your mandir

A simple guide to choosing a moorti.

Inside

02 Measure your space

03 Choose a design that fits

Measure your mandir

Shown here: the carved arch mandir from our collection.

1 Width

Measure between the inside faces of the pillars.

2 Height

Start where the base sits. Measure straight up to the arch above that spot.

3 Depth

From the front shelf edge straight to the back wall.

3 Depth

View from above

Use inches. Type or write your numbers below.

| Width (in) | Height (in) | Depth (in) |
|---|---|---|
| | | |

Check the opening

Measure the narrowest part of the doors or arch as well.

Choosing a pair or a group?

Measure the full row, including each base and the gaps.

Compare your numbers with the finished moorti, including its base.

Which moorti will fit?

Start with a deity or design you love. Then check its full size.

One figure

Check the widest point, including the crown, arms and base.

A pair or group

Ask for the total width of the set with the figures placed together.

Try the fit on paper

1. Ask us for the finished width, depth and height.
2. Cut paper to the base size. Place it on your shelf.
3. Check that the doors close and the crown clears the arch.

For example

On a 12-inch-deep shelf, a 10-inch-deep base leaves 2 inches.

A 13-inch-deep base extends past the edge. Choose a shallower one.

Need help choosing a moorti?

Contact us for an expert consultation. Send a photo of your mandir, its width, depth and height, and a photo of the design you like. We'll help you choose a moorti that fits your space.

WhatsApp +91 97847 50300